

Community Development and Resilience

MASHAV, in alignment with the 2030 Agenda and the Sustainable Development Goals, is committed to strengthening community resilience by enhancing women and men's capacity to participate and contribute to the development process of their communities.

Community resilience - the sustained ability of a community to withstand and recover from adversity - has become a key policy issue and a goal both at the state and the local levels. Strengthening resilience is one of the pillars of development, as it presents an approach of overcoming development challenges far beyond disaster response. Resilience is closely connected to the ability to absorb capacity building for community development, and an important aspect of achieving long-term, broad-based sustainable development.

As a member of the family of nations, the State of Israel through MASHAV, shares the global responsibility of striving to achieve worldwide sustainable development and social equity, with a strong emphasis of leaving no-one behind, while fortifying resilience.

MASHAV's training activities and courses in community development and resilience present a unique blend of capacity building, preparedness and emergency management, and encouragement of collaborate action by strengthening the civil society, with gender mainstreaming and the promotion of gender equality as cross cutting issues.
